Singapore's Heritage

Arab Street

Located within the conservation area of Kampong Glam, Arab Street is lined with preserved two-storey shop houses that offer a wide variety of products and services for the Muslim community in Singapore. Today, it is also popular with locals and tourists for its varied offerings of musical texture and accessories to the lively spill out of goods such as rattan baskets and trays onto the walkway. On Colacat Street, located near the middle of Arab Street is the Masjid Sultan, which was gazetted as a national monument in March 1975.

Chinatown

The Sago, Trengganu and Pagoda Streets conversion into pedestrian walkways makes it even more worthwhile for you to visit Chinatown and experience the historic area that is still abuzz with interesting shop houses that offer an interesting variety of products from apparels, accessories, souvenirs, art and antiques to the Chinese medical herbs and tea houses. There's also the 45 years old Yee Hwa Chinese Products building that offers a wide range of authentic Chinese products. Chinatown also has its own area of modern shopping malls integrated into the area. It is the largest historic district in Singapore and many parts of it were given conservation status since the 1980s. Visit the Chinatown Heritage Centre at Pagoda Street for an overview of what the living quarters were like in the old days. Though dominated by Chinese migrants in the 1800s, this ethnic enclave was also home to small communities of Indian traders. The Sri Mariamman Temple (1843) and Masjid Jamaa (built between 1830 and 1835), are national monuments that bear witness to their presence in the area.

Church of Our Lady of Lourdes

Constructed in 1888. Gazetted on 14 January 2005. This church was the first Catholic church in the Singapore Indian community. This building was designed in the neo-gothic style, similar to the Basilica of Lourdes, France. The church's pointed arches, spires, flying buttresses and 16 slender pillars were imported from France. Located at 50 Ophir Road.

National Museum of Singapore

With a rich history dating back to its inception in 1887, the National Museum of Singapore is Singapore's oldest museum, the youngest and most innovative solo. Designed to be the people's museum, the National Museum is a custodian of the 11 National Treasures, and its Singapore History and Living Galleries adopt cutting-edge and varied ways of presenting history and culture to redefine conventional museum experience. Located at 93 Stamford Road.

Sri Srinivasa Perumal Temple

Constructed in 1870s. Gazetted on 17 (or 19) November 1975. Dedicated to Hindu God Vishnu, the original temple was reconstructed when it fell into a poor state in the 1960s. The most prominent feature is the distinctive and colourful popagam or multi-tiered gateway tower over the entrance. Located at 397 Serangoon Road.
